Abstract:

We had clearly accepted that peaceful agenda and co operative well being which will ensure every possible developments, world peace and prosperity. But sometimes we don't have realized that the space system has been initiated in such a way to which a certain criteria and follow ups are maintained. Third world is not relevant in much sense as its great proponents like India, South Africa, Brazil and many more had surpassed some criteria for not being categorizing them as third world. But until the idea and the pace of their goals of peaceful and well maintained human value is achieved the developing third world countries will have to follow the indulgence and guidance which we (third world) actually don't want to follow.

INTRODUCTION

The continuance of military dictatorship or the strong democratic government is not the reason for unstable war like situation or various peace-disturbing conditions... There is a mindset that democracy is the suitable and fitted of all for all caps, but the weakness and lengthy inexperience overcrowded elite has not been able to make the scene. The age old cannons, swords, spears and huge bow & arrow evolved through the time which we assumed that it was the only actual article that guided our history and evolutionary events. We know that it had taken our safety or we assumed that it will guarantee our secure interest. We rely on it for our security up to the coming of Gunpowder or fire arms on 13th century onwards. The world system was unaware with the concept of territoriality, sovereignty and security perspective as we had seen in recent modern times.

We had experience a number of conflicts, ethnic violence in third world countries basically after the end of 2nd world war. They had adopted peaceful democratic setup as well as constitutional monarchy with universal adult franchise .but the scene was disrupted with poor and unstable government unable to come out to protect its citizens. The security which the world experiences during the Second World War period entered into the internal security of the third world nations.

Security for what? Human safeguard, children or women, trade or commerce, church or religious institution. May be the interest of a particular state to have a well maintained dominance or power position. We are not going to look how the matter of security was taken as responsibility by state apparatus as well as when and in which circumstances were put by state in lieu of giving security to its national or to a large it was not only the moral agenda of ruler to safeguard its public.

The modern years are also the age of wars, conflicts, treaties, peace keeping agenda like our age old ancestors and statesman but added by human rights, individual approach. There is just a new dimension to look the case. The coming of breakdown of autocratic monarchical rule got replaced by democracy where a whole mass gave their permission or consent to rule, guide the state to a number of elites who will engage then affairs and direct our way and mindset.

The European countries explored the whole world and controlled the various important lands and world areas with the help of their military and strategic capability. They also engage themselves in many new practices and attacked the foundational framework of their civilization. The Europeans were active in regard of trade and production as well as the renaissance paved the way for industrial revolution which further doubled their product. Just to have a market for their goods they capture the region as well they took over the responsibility of security of that particular region and areas concerned.

The nations which were ruled by the Colonial powers in pre 2nd world war period and were independent only after the breakdown of their own domestic system . The so called imperialist powers were unable to maintain its security and the expense as well as the catastrophic inhumane holocaust pictured their own powerful grip in all aspects. The colonized countries came to realise the condition of their rulers seeks an ample opportunity for their independence. The Asian giants India and Indonesia followed by Malayan Federation in Asia and Indo-China state came out to be a different world players which have huge impact on world politics in their own respective caliber .

Africa is of different story yet it has its similarity with regards of the pattern of their world outlook .The concept of nation was of vague and unknown to many African indigenous society who still enjoys and cheerfully practiced the hunting and gathering in many instances. The course of history and the concept of development ,lifestyle ,academics, food habit medication and the concept of borders were of extreme opposite compared to the European as well as Asian society. The North Africa has its own course of civilization carried with Egypt ,Carthage and many more with influential neighbours like Greeks ,Romans and Arabs as well as trade with Chinese and Hindustani(Indian) parties .The African society has limited nations and administrative experiences which were in many instance opposite to its own north African neighbours .

The history which we saw today is dominated by western events and their role on human developments as well as code of conduct for a popular and welfare society . The world order is maintained by the society which was advanced only after the Newton and Watts further added by huge use of gunpowder once again enhance their exploding and ambiguous minds for fueling their advance. Military advancement as well as huge production and their own scanty population provoke their advancement to explore the unknown world which they dreamt and heard only in stories once maybe through Alexender's advance in Western coast of Hindustan (India).

The stories of diamonds, precious stones ,Gold ,Silver as well as the spice and beautiful commodities unknown to western parties became huge important factors that attracted the thumping trading community surpassing huge Atlantic and Indian oceans to a level. They later took the advantage of huge dominant religious and tribal influence in their administration because they had already surpassed their ill Church and government conflict which was easy to achieve. Through religion ,through language ,Education and their flassy lifestyle attracted many aspirant colonized people to a level. The cruel and Godly figure head ruler were oppressor and the amount of welfare and developmental endeavor were nil in many instances. Hence they were not able to resist for being ruled by those traders and missionary foreigners .

The timeframe of western dominance within the globe was seen much more from 18 th century onwards. The west specially its literature and the concept of individual responsibility and the movement in which the state was taken back . Human need and human choice were given prominence .Education ,social systems administration as well as culture were made much vocal giving focus on individual supremacy as the criticizing stronghold of theocratic and state centric aristocratic governments and authority . The age old theocratic and alligence to a figure head and individual apparatus were sidelined due to the poverty and uneven economic income distribution.. Their harsh environment and limited resources provoke them to explore new lands ..America ,Australia Africa as well as the developed and rich Asian civilization .Asian ware not a unified and independent dreamers. Literature art music ,social formation were already developed but the division of society was seen much in regard of community ,religion and minority concepts. The case of uneasy and dominated non European were ruled either by authoritarian monarchas or own tribals leaders .

The so called world responsible guardian states who themselves termed as the caretaker to the oppressed, weak and economically vulnerable countries actually categories themselves as the first world opposing the idea of socialistic paradigm. They also put the colonized countries, economically weaker countries and the globally southern states as Third world countries. The western powers were able to pattern our society and the moral as well as ethics, the concept of human rights, class room education, democracy, market morphology. The scene again got traumatized when the internal state problem of nation –building as well as security issue were channelized through their western style.

Are the every single issues and security case of the third world nation would be determined or guided by the western idea? Are we dependent upon the idea that western powers had implemented in our mind. Even they had categorically given order as how a particular state will contribute or influence international order. Is it the system or the time framework which is genuine and all the aspiring civilization had to follow, either a western power or a third world underdeveloped country.

The west is modern and the modern is development. Even western nations had been able to influence the foreign as well as various internal policies through various regional setups. Their system of government is such that by which it can pressure the third world through trade and pressure it to open up its market. The post colonial country lack the same and its original administrative structure which guided their whole setup. Our educational pattern and our understanding got captured through the systematic buildup that swallows an overlap our own traditional foundation. We accepted the system as progressive and are still thinking that it will guide us to a progressive and developed nation with equal and ample opportunities.

The third world nations suffer crucial security issues with weak governments and unstable political regimes and faulty economic planning. The third world state had been affected and influence by ethnic and communal political outlook that dominate the whole scene. There are regimes that use to rule over the countries in ethnic line. The practice has been so that peoples are used to it and even democratically elected governments are unable to make over the complete terms. The cases in regard of Latin America as well as African nations are examples to it. The governments in third world countries had been manipulated by the superpowers as well as regional powers to follow their regional groupings and terms. The elites which have their education in west are able to make connections with giant companies dominating and further de-establishing the foundation to the foreign companies.

We have seen that even the third world countries are unable to meet and safeguard its internal security that has been ruined by ethnic centric groups who are unresponsive to compromise their allegiance and want their share in political frame. The foreign governments are taking the advantage of the multi-ethnic group to through the government or to establish a government. The case of Liberia, Angola, Rwanda and many more are such examples. Basically a government's main function is to have a welfare oriented policy. But those countries are unable to make the same as they have uneven growth rate. Many third world countries are going through a huge change and they had stepped out from their traditional and violent upholding with scientific and rationalistic approach. There had been favorable and progressive build up in regard of education, health, social upbringing and important is the rise of civil society even in a small scale. The focus in regard of strengthening national character and a nation in a promising manner is the utmost need that guarantees a secure and responsive outlook.

Conclusion

The world scenario which is dominated by the western powers, the European countries and USA which had very details and active world agenda involving global village, peaceful coexistence, and the war against terrorism targeting mainly Islamist country. They had one time accumulated the resources and the natural wealth. Their self-projecting philanthropic attitude and the guardian attitude had somehow dismantled the status quo of the nation in many regions. Yet they had written and shaped the course of human history which is by a large accepted and possibly the outstanding achievement that had helped the west to grab the scene. But we should acknowledge that the third world lacks some important matters that had been considered as the loophole for the acceptance of the same. The third world were spiritually maintained and culturally bounded which is absent in regard of western power. The various failed nations as Somalia, weak countries in Africa and Asia are unable to keep the legitimacy of government. It is not the case that third world will be dominated by western ideas and practices, this is just the jumbling of words because we all had to accept the new trend of discoveries and mutual co-operative attitude for a better tomorrow. The scene had so that only regional co-operation, mutual understanding and non-interference policy. We had analysis and experience that third world had somehow didn't get fit with the concept of liberal idea, nation statehood, secularization and territoriality. The vast land of Saharan Africa is such a place that dismisses the idea of particular land area. The region has been hot bed of politics and is unable to cope out the experience followed by West. The social buildup is different. The morality, ethics and belief also determine the understanding of government to be or governed. The role played by UN is also praiseworthy because they are pointing out to comprehend the need of human rights and legitimacy surpassing the communal and ethic line for covering the polity.
